School to School support

About Our School

The Lady Byron School is an independent, autism specialist school located in Fleckney, Leicestershire, funded by the local authority. The school is dedicated to supporting young people who face challenges accessing mainstream education due to various factors. All students enrolled at The Lady Byron School have an autism diagnosis or are on the autism pathway and hold an Educational, Health, and Care Plan (EHCP).

About Me

I am a qualified teacher and former headteacher with extensive experience in autism, SEND, and behaviour management. Having worked in both mainstream and specialist settings, as well as for the local authority, I have a proven track record in creating inclusive environments. I am passionate about supporting students with complex needs, particularly autism, to help them achieve their full potential through tailored and innovative strategies.
